

Robert Klauß (Ex-Chef-Trainer)

Beitrag von „BubVomGlubb“ vom 3. Oktober 2022, 10:07

Zitat von Anthony409

The players need to take a lot of responsibility for our performances being so bad. However, we haven't looked like we have a structure or plan, for quite some time now. I wish Robert all the best, but I don't think things would have got better, if he had stayed with us.

Players without a Plan and missing structures in the Leadership unfortunate cant perform as they might used to, or lets say were able to. That may be the reason why he had to go, even though Hecking allways used to support him.